Union honors Moss with doctorate

Union College has conferred a Doctor of Science degree on Dr. Robert Moss, a distinguished scientist and educator. The honor recognizes his significant contributions to the field of environmental science and his dedication to teaching and research. Dr. Moss has spent the majority of his career at Union College, where he has inspired generations of students and faculty alike. His work in environmental science has been widely recognized, and he has received numerous awards and honors throughout his career. The conferring ceremony will take place on the campus of Union College in Schenectady, New York.
